December 13th Annual Holiday Party

The December TPCUG Meeting is this Wednesday, and it will be our Annual Holiday Party for the Group. It starts at 6:30pm at our regular meeting place at Pepin Distributing Co. The menu of items will be similar to past years, including chicken nuggets from Chick-Fil-A, shrimp with cocktail sauce, other hot hor d'oeuvres, cheese and crackers, miscellaneous other snacks items, and chocolate & various other desserts. We will have soft drinks available along with water, but no alcoholic beverages. We hope you are able to attend, and look forward to seeing you at the party. You only need to bring yourself to this event, as our Group treasury provides for all the food and beverage.

January 10th Upcoming Meeting Presentation

We are scheduled to have Bob Gostischa from Avast Software present his new program "If It's Connected, It Needs to be Protected". His presentation will cover computers, tablets, phones and the Internet of Things (IoT) devices, and will discuss the current dangers that face us on a daily basis, and how to secure and protect those same devices. It is not often we are able to have outside presentations made to our group, so please plan on attending this informative January meeting and help our group show support and appreciation for Bob making us one of his stops on this winter's Florida tour of user groups. Mark your calendars or reminder list now for the Jan 10th date of this meeting.
